Venue: St Andrews on The Terrace, 30 The Terrace, Wellington

Time: 9am to 2:30 pm

Date: 17 March 2019

Hosts: Tiwhanawhana Trust

Purpose of Forum:

This hui uses the rare opportunity of the ILGA World Conference being held in Wellington for delegates of the Pacific and Indigenous peoples of Oceania to discuss Rainbow human rights. The collective can also advance preparations for how to make the best use of the time that will be available during the conference to meet with the United Nations Independent Expert on Protection against violence and discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity, Victor Madrigal-Borloz.

(Rainbow is used here as an umbrella term to describe people who do not identify as heterosexual, do not fit typical gender norms, and/or were born with bodies that do not match common biological definition of male or female. The term is used interchangeably with LGBTIQ+. Rainbow is also used here as an umbrella term for Indigenous cultural variants).

How:

This hui will provide the opportunity for invited guests to;

- a) Share their vision of utopia as a Rainbow person and/or community in their country,
- b) Highlight what solutions are being pursued and also the barriers
- c) Discuss individual and regional strategies going forward

By the end of the hui, groups and/or individuals will each present their visions, solutions and barriers and strategies going forward. A presentation from the forum will also be provided at a special function to the Ambassador to New Zealand from the Kingdom of the Netherlands.

Target Group:

6.5. Grindr desire mapping institute (Lionharbor View Lounge, Monday, March 18, 10:00 – 12:30)

Responsible: Jack Harrison-Quintana <jack@grindr.com>

In 1978, Audre Lorde famously wrote – the erotic is power. Lorde understood that vibrant sexuality was not a superficial aside in our work for justice but was in fact the thing our ‘enemies’ feared the most.

The paradox of sexuality in our cultures is that while a racist, Hollywood-ized, heterosexist version of sex is everywhere -- the opportunity to discover and discuss our authentic sexuality is very much forbidden. Most often, we are sold a version of sexuality that works to stifle our deepest desires, making us question whether we have a right to even think about or ask for what we want.

Desire Mapping hinges on the idea that until we discover and build upon our often-buried desires – and stop parroting the ‘wants’ that others have designed and approved for us – we cannot seek connection, love ourselves fully, nor build our families and our movements in the generative ways that we must.

In fact, the more we bury and deny our erotic truths, the more our vision for vibrant lives worth living and collective liberation falters.

Each of us has our own unique Desire Map. And everything we need to know to create a fully embodied, passionate sexuality is embedded in it. We just have to bring your stories to light and learn how to use them.

Over our time together, we will:

- Map Our Desire;
- Sift through roadblocks to un-covering our truth;
- Consider what is most important about our newfound information;
- Learn strategies for sharing your Map with casual or long-term partners;
- Commit to taking our next best steps while celebrating ourselves and each other!
